have opened my eyes and realized that all my dreams have been left behind. It happened more than a year ago when I decided to return home from the USA. I built for myself all the goals and dreams for the future life, but to my great regret, everything remained only in dreams.

Since then I have been living in Russia. During this time, I had to overcome a lot of difficulties. I learned a new language, met new people, learned new skills. Unfortunately, as they say in my country, this game wasn't worth the candle.

After a few months of studying at russian school, I realized that this isn't what I need. A particular difference was the attitude of teachers in American and Russian schools. I began to realize that I wouldn't be able to get the education I needed here. And my life took on a new meaning: I decided to go to university in America.
